Thank you for all the help!!! Class of '09!

Thank you for all your hard work and support with helping the senior class. No one wanted to take on the challenging role of being our class advisors but we greatly appreciate it and we thank you for your dedication.

Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Cammock, & Mrs. Medlin

Thank you for being our advisor for our junior year. You gave us a great start for our senior year as well as giving us the best junior year you could. We appreciate your time and effort.

Ms. Batiste & Mr. Jihad

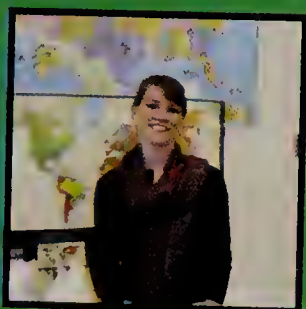

Thank you for dedicating your time to helping us prepare this yearbook. We know your time is valuable and we cherish it very much.

Mrs. Kears

Thank you for helping us during our class events and helping our class stay organized. You were there to help our tickets get sold and get things done on time.

Miss Smith

Although you were not our class advisor, you were willing to help us get what we needed done. You were willing to donate to a senior in need for our social events and it was greatly appreciated.

Mr. Salmon

In Reflection.. From Freshmen to Seniors..

Lets take it back to freshman year when all we saw were food fights at lunch and physical fights during the school day. And of course, hearing Mr. Lawes say "TO DI REAR!" for the first time when someone tried to cut the lunch line.

Sophomore year the entire school had to go outside numerous times because a few people thought it was okay to pull the fire alarm during the school day. On Halloween, the class of 2007, as a senior prank decided to pull the fire alarm more than ten times in less than two periods standing on top of the hill near the football field and threw eggs; hitting our former principal Mr. Stringer.

Junior year was a year to remember! Who could forget the extreme rivalry that went on for the whole school year between us and the class of 2008 ending with the waterfight. The waterfight was the last friday right before finals which got a little bit more messier than water. Paint, flour and juice were also included; of course no other class of 2009 won that war.

Senior year is when we got hit with change. We began to wear uniforms and the school was split into three different parts; keeping us secluded from the freshman and Culinary Academy. Although we found change for our last year of high school, we still manage to enjoy ourselves and live it up the best way possible.
